

REPEATED COURSES

You must successfully complete all required courses for the degree program. You must repeat any required course for which you received a failing grade. A failing grade is defined as any grade below the grade required for graduation in your program of study.

If you repeat a course, previous grades earned for the repeated course will be marked on the transcript as indicated in the transcript legend, but the grade received on the last repeat will replace all other grades for that course in the CGPA calculation.

When you repeat a course, you will be charged the current tuition for the course and must assume responsibility for all associated fees. If you choose to retake a previously passed course, your financial aid eligibility or funding may be impacted. Please contact your advisor for more information.

In retaking a course, the Student Code of Conduct (<https://catalog.purdueglobal.edu/purdue-global-law-school/policy-information/student-rights-responsibilities/student-conduct/>) applies; carefully review the sections regarding use of previous work and materials from prior courses.

If you fail the same course or its equivalent three times, you will be academically dismissed from Purdue Global Law School.
